CHARITY OF THE MONTH

WILDLIFE CENTER OF LONG ISLAND

The Wildlife Center of Long Island, previously known as Volunteers for Wildlife, is a nonprofit wildlife hospital and education center located on the grounds of Bailey Arboretum in Locust Valley. Its mission: to rescue, rehabilitate, and release wild animals who have been injured, sick, or orphaned, and to educate the public about the importance of wildlife and ecological conservation. Each year, they accept nearly 2,000 patients (mainly songbirds, waterfowl, and small mammals), all native to Long Island.
